Agenda Item: 15	Consideration of Contract Amendment #2 to Renew Contract Term for Bond Counsel Services with McGuire Woods, LLP
Presenter(s):	Rusty Little
Beginning Time:	7:55 pm

Potential Conflict(s) of Interest and Abstention(s):	None
Background:	For the past several years, WCSA has utilized the services of McGuire Woods, LLP for Bond Counsel services. Bond counsel assistance is necessary to assist with closing for line extension projects and other Capital Improvement Projects, most often with Virginia Department of Health and Rural Development. In 2018, after Staff procured for Bond Counsel service, the Board approved an agreement for WCSA to enter into contract with McGuire Woods for bond counsel services. The last contract renewal will end on June 30, 2022. The contract allows for the opportunity to renew for two additional one year terms. This will be the second time the term has been renewed and is therefore eligible for one final renewal. If renewed for the final term, the new term would be from July 1, 2022 to June 30, 2023. The current fee structure for the last renewal is $8,000 and McGuire Woods has agreed to offer renewal based on that same pricing of $8,000. Hourly rates for any work beyond the fixed pricing transactions also remains the same.
Recommendations:	Subject to answering any questions the Board may have, Staff kindly recommends the Board favorably consider extending the contract for bond counsel service with McGuire Woods for the final term.
On the Record:	None
Discussion:	Mr. Little discussed the information above.
Proposed Motion:	Authorize the approval of extending the contract for bond counsel services with McGuire Woods for the final term.
Actual Motion:	Motion to approve the extension for one year.

Customer Costs

- Customers sometimes ask, why is my bill higher than my friend who lives in _____.
- Rate comparisons will never be apples to apples however, we can compare and shed light on why one bill may be higher/lower than another.
- In the coming months, in comparison to three other utilities, we will look at some of the things we can compare and which result in the rates we see today.

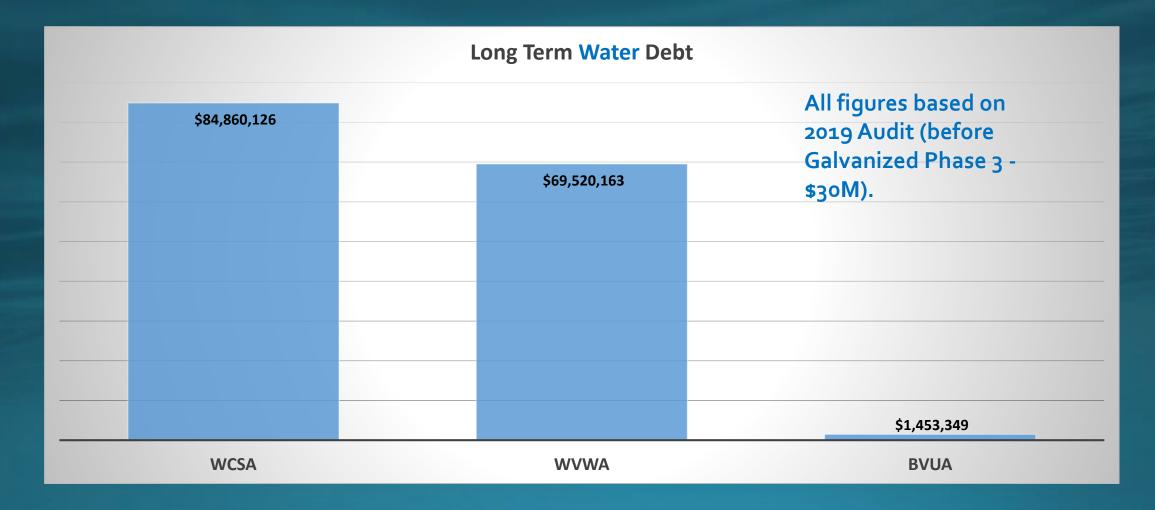

Residential Water - Nominalized for Density

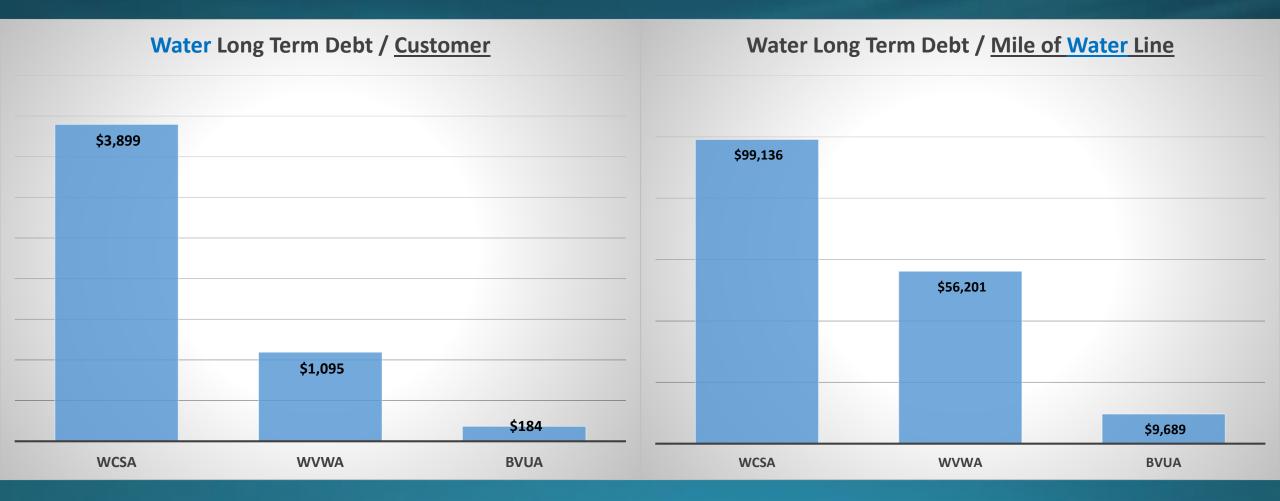

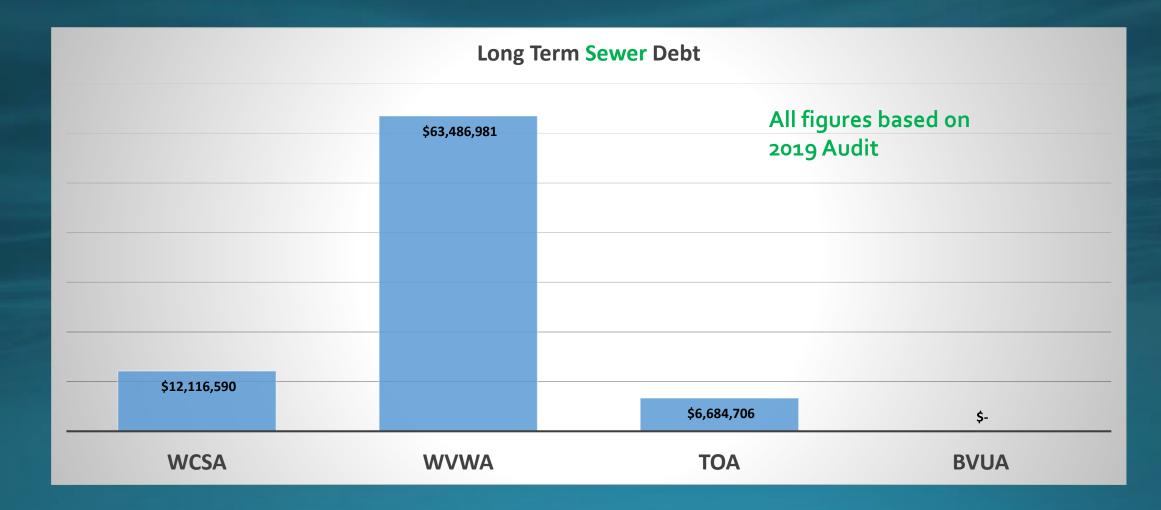

When normalized for density, WCSA is on par with the other utilities.

WCSA's operating cost/mile of main is among the best in the comparison!

Annual Water Operat Mile of Mai				r Operating Budget/ le of Main
WCSA has most d of the three and	the $15,002			$27,687	$26,784
second lowest cost/mile of ma	-	$18,480	$20,047
$14,198		-
$13,908
WCSA WVWA	BVUA	WCSA	WVWA	ТОА	BVUA

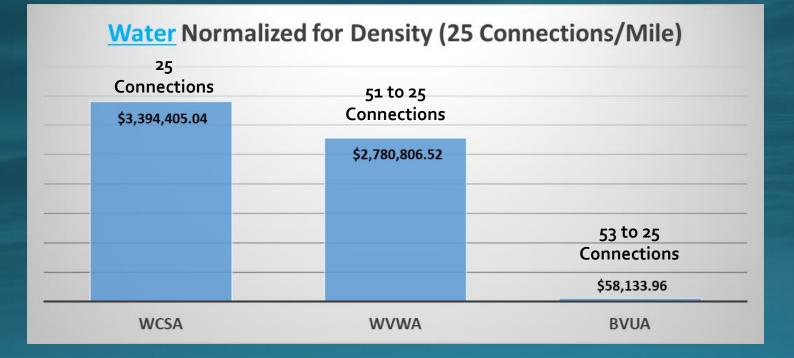

- Why does WCSA appear to have more debt than the other utilities?
 - WCSA is investing in water/sewer system extensions of service. We think BVUA or the TOA systems are built-out and therefore do not have system extension debt.
 - WCSA has invested in not only maintaining its infrastructure but also replacing and expanding it.
 - A total of $80 million has been invested in the renovated and expanded Middle Fork Drinking Water Plant from 4.6 MGD to 12.0 MGD and replacement of aging 2" diameter galvanized waterline where we increased the size of most lines to 6" in diameter or larger to allow for fire protection and growth.

Administration Building Space

- Five-year forecast
- White spaces are occupied.
- Yellow offices are for vacant or forecasted positions.
- Green indicates one office space is remaining .
- Building appears adequate.

Holly Edwards

- Interviewing to fill two positions: the position approved by the Board in March and a recent vacancy
- Meet with Embarq and two telephone system service providers
- Recommend WCSA replace its circa 1995 traditional analog landline telephone system with a VoIP system

• What is VoIP?

- Voice over Internet Protocol, or VoIP, is a type of communication technology (comprising both hardware and software) that allows you to make phone calls using an internet connection rather than a traditional analog phone line that uses wires or optical fibers to make a connection. VoIP is also known as internet calling or IP telephony.
- VoIP is transmitted through various methods, including traditional phones, smartphone apps, computer software and specific VoIP-enabled phones.

- How does VoIP work?
- VoIP works by breaking up your voice into digital packets, like electronic envelopes, and sending those packets as data to the recipient over the internet.
- VoIP is available in a variety of systems, making it accessible to anyone with a reliable internet connection. You can make VoIP calls via these methods:
 - A phone and VoIP adapter. With an adapter, you can use a regular landline phone to make calls over the internet. The adapters plug into a phone outlet in the wall or directly into your router.
 - A computer (i.e., a "softphone"). There are many programs or applications available that will let you make voice calls over the internet, including Skype, Google Voice and FaceTime.
 - A smartphone. With your smartphone, you can download apps, such as Google Voice or Skype, that allow you to make internet calls.
 - A dedicated VoIP phone. These look like traditional analog phones but connect directly to a computer network rather than a phone line.

- Pros and cons of VoIP systems
- VoIP systems are becoming more popular as the world continues to digitize. They offer significant benefits like lower costs, increased reliability and better sound quality.
- Pros
 - Lower cost: Because calls take place over the internet, we are only charged for internet access rather than for call minutes or for extra phone service. With traditional phone systems, a system with multiple lines is expensive, and additional features like call transferring or queuing can run up costs. WCSA's estimated annual savings could be as much as $90,000.

• Pros Continued:

- Connection anywhere: VoIP systems offer enhanced functionality compared to traditional phone lines. The world of business is moving rapidly, and many professionals need to be reachable anytime and anywhere. VoIP phone systems enable this by automatically routing phone calls to your VoIP-enabled phone (laptop or cell phone). Wherever you are able to connect to the internet, you can make and receive phone calls.
- Technology: Modern communication runs through digital lines, and VoIP digitizes voice communications. This makes it compatible with the latest technologies. VoIP can work through the newest headsets, smartphones, computer accessories and more. Any cutting-edge technology that uses your voice is going to work better with a VoIP system than a landline.

• Pros Continued:

- Reliability: The digital nature of VoIP makes for extremely reliable communication. IP information exchanges run through some of the most robust infrastructure on the planet. When this infrastructure is supporting voice calls, it adds considerable reliability to the process.
- Sound quality: Sound is usually clearer with VoIP than with analog phone lines, but this too depends on your internet connection. A slow connection can negatively affect the quality of your call, but a strong connection typically results in clear, consistent sound quality. To ensure clear calls, we will need to ensure our internet connection is adequate.

• Pros Continued:

- Better functionality: VoIP solutions tend to offer greater function than landlines by allowing users to host video calls and transmit multimedia messages. Systems often include add-on features like voicemail, call analytics, anonymous call rejection and voicemail-to-text transcription.
 - VoIP means no busy signal
 - Automated verbal notice of average wait time based on current conditions
 - Option to hang up and receive a callback in the order in which it was received
 - Real-time analytics to identify problems (long wait times, dropped calls, while they are occurring however, with VoIP, they should no longer occur)

Cons:

• Emergency calls: A con of VoIP systems is that they're not guaranteed to support emergency call service, like a call to 911. This is largely due to VoIP's flexible nature – any call from a traditional landline is easily traced to one geographic location, but VoIP (and mobile phones) can be used anywhere without being tied to one place. Thus, VoIP providers must have Enhanced 911 enabled. E911 customers set a physical address that shows up when they dial 911 on their phones. VoIP providers must cooperate with traditional phone companies that control access to the public telephone system and 911 operators, which can be complicated, because VoIP and the public telephone system are direct competitors. The best way to find out if a VoIP provider offers 911 service automatically, if it must be activated, or if it is not supported at all is to call the provider and ask. WCSA is looking into this.

• Cons:

- Internet dependence: The second major con with a VoIP system is that, because it is fully dependent on the internet, you must have a strong and reliable internet connection to ensure decent sound quality and to avoid dropped calls.
 - WCSA has its primary internet connection with Point Broadband and secondary (backup) with Embarq. WCSA relies on these two providers in the transaction of its web-based payment options. At least twice in the past few years, WCSA has had to rely on its secondary service with Embarq.
 - WCSA is evaluating whether it will need to upgrade its internet service. If so, this is estimated about approximately $160/month or $1,920/year.

Looking Ahead:

 WCSA is preparing to issue a request for proposals for a VoIP telephone system to include design, installation, training, and service.

Operations Manager Report and Update

Meter Operations

- 3 meters remain to be replaced {started in January with 240}
 - 3 2" meters will be completed in April
- AMR reading remains excellent
- AMI testing and transition continues
 - Successfully read the four test meters
 - Itron working to resolve software issue between Itron platform and Temetra

Meter Operations

Takeaways:

- 1. Meter reading accuracy using AMR is 99.8%
- 2. Meter reading issue is broken cable between ERT and Meter

Maintenance Operations

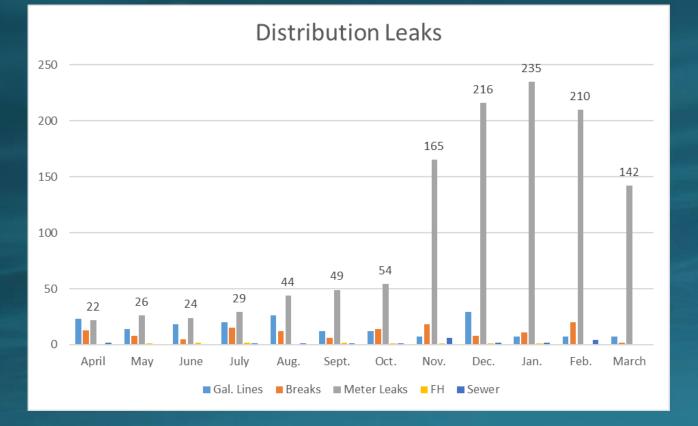

Offers accepted - two new maintenance crew employees
 Started in March – Travis Hughes and Kevin Alexander

Glad Springs Tank – Target board and overflow screen repaired

Completed Colonial Road project – 1800 feet galvanized line taken out of service

• Nine new Fire Hydrants put into service as part of G₃ project

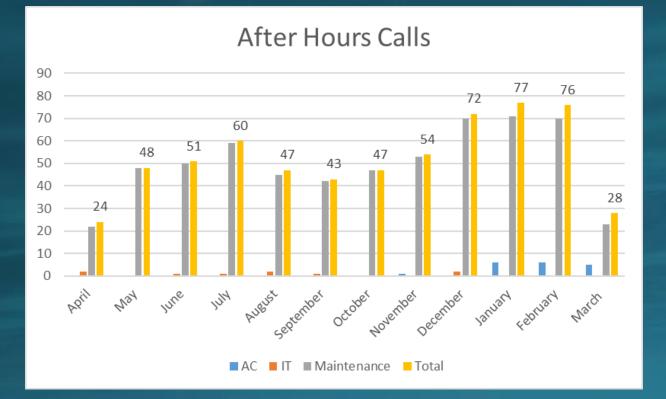

Maintenance Operations

Takeaways:

- 1. Meter leaks are trending down
- 2. Continue to replace meter gaskets

Maintenance Operations

Takeaways:

- 1. After Hours Calls reduced by 63%
- 2. Increased focus on Preventative Maintenance

Operations Update

Process Improvements

RPR's, Resident Project Representatives, responsibilities broaden to support Cross Connection Control & Back Flow Prevention.

✓ Better alignment of goals to support Cross Connection Control & Back Flow Prevention

RPR's have the knowledge and bandwidth as our galvanized projects conclude

Improved focus of resources to support our Customers

Operations Update

Process Improvements

Sewer Maintenance Crew transitioned from Maintenance Dept. to Wastewater Treatment Dept.

✓ Better alignment of goals to support Wastewater Collection and Treatment

✓ Focused on Preventative and Predictive Maintenance activities

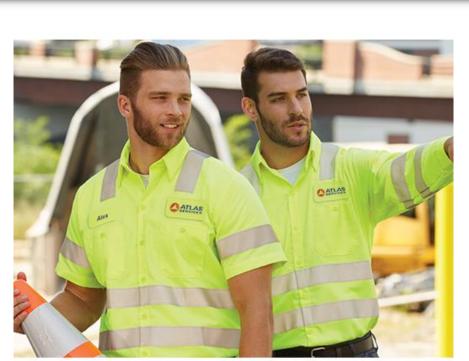

✓ Improved focus of resources to support our Customers

✓ Transition from a reactive approach to a proactive methodology

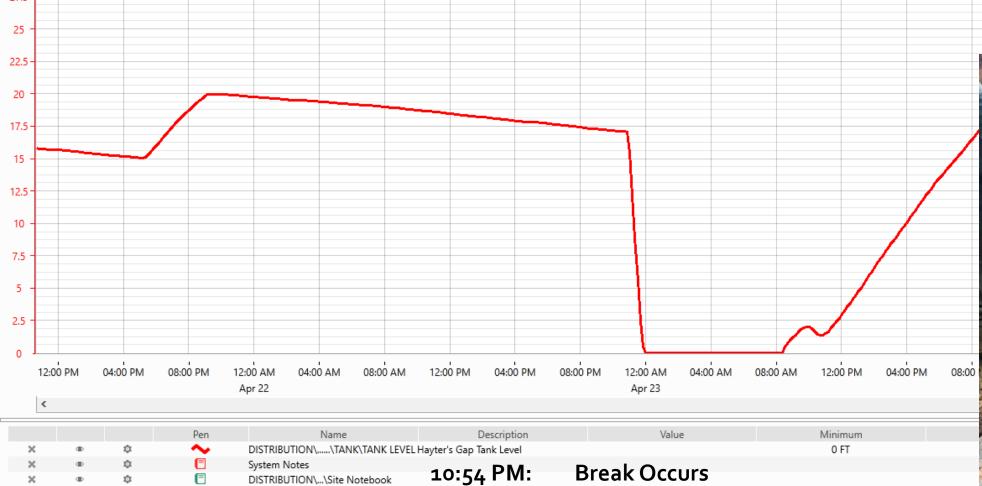

Uniform Workwear

ility workwear from UniFirst helps your workers be seen—day or night

- Pursuing professional workwear that reflects the quality of our service; a service not only delivered to but consumed by 50,000 people daily.
- For personnel who spend most of their day in the field; high visibility workwear (similar to the photo) is where we are heading.
- The Board may wish to wear a logo shirt to your meetings.
